The image displays a musical score for a piece titled "The Four Seasons" by Vivaldi. The score is written for four parts: Klm. (Klarinet), El. B. (Euphonium), Syn. (Synthesizer), and D. Set (Drum Set). The key signature is one sharp (F#), and the time signature is 4/4. The score is divided into three systems, with measures 16, 19, and 22 marked at the beginning of each system. The Klm. part features a melodic line with various notes and rests, often accompanied by a bass line. The El. B. part provides a harmonic foundation with sustained notes and moving lines. The Syn. part includes a melodic line with a prominent bass line. The D. Set part consists of a drum set pattern, primarily using the snare and bass drum, with occasional cymbal and tom-tom sounds. The score includes a variety of musical notations, including notes, rests, and dynamic markings. The overall style is that of a contemporary orchestral or chamber music score.

A drumset score for the piece 'Moonlit Dragons'. The score is written on a single staff with a treble clef and a 4/4 time signature. It consists of six systems of music, each containing two staves. The first staff of each system is for the snare drum, and the second staff is for the bass drum. The notation includes various drum symbols: a vertical line for the snare, an 'x' for the bass drum, and a cross for the hi-hat. The score is divided into three sections: Section A (measures 1-6), Section B (measures 7-12), and Section C (measures 13-20). Section A starts with a tempo marking of 80 beats per minute and a 6-measure rest. Section B and C contain more complex rhythmic patterns. The score ends with a double bar line at measure 20.
